Part XI. of "Cuneiform Texts from Babylonian Tablets, &c.," contains texts from one hundred and fifty-nine baked clay tablets, and fragments of the Kouyunjik and other collections. The texts are syllabaries, and may be divided into the following classes :—

- (1.) Syllabaries of the First Class. The text on each side of tablets of this class is arranged in columns, each of which has three divisions. The middle division contains the cuneiform signs and groups to be explained, that to the left their values in Sumerian, and that to the right their Assyrian names (Plates 1-13).
- (2.) Syllabaries of the Second Class. Each column of the text on tablets of this class contains three divisions. In the middle division are the cuneiform signs and groups to be explained; that to the left contains their Sumerian values, and that to the right their Assyrian meanings (Plates 14-28).
- (3.) Syllabaries of the Third Class. Each column of the text on tablets of this class contains four divisions. In the second division are the cuneiform signs to be explained; the first contains their Sumerian values, the third their Assyrian names, and the fourth their Assyrian meanings (Plates 29-41).
- (4.) Fragments of miscellaneous Syllabaries (Plates 42-50).

The first edition of the texts of Syllabaries was made by the late General Sir H. C. Rawlinson, Bart., G.C.B., who, in the second volume of "The Cuneiform Inscriptions of Western Asia," London, 1866, gave facsimiles of many of the important tablets and fragments which he had identified. Subsequent examination of the Kouyunjik and other collections in the British Museum enabled various scholars to publish additional and supplementary texts, which have shown the value of even small fragments of this class in helping to complete the Assyrian Sign List. Further researches which have been made in recent years have resulted in the identification of about one hundred and eighteen hitherto unpublished tablets and fragments of Syllabaries of various classes, copies of all of which are given in the present part. Their numbers are :—KK. 2,078, 4,145, 4,145a, 4,145c—k, 4,263, 5,719, 7,609, 7,691, 7,693, 7,695, 7,701, 7,703, 7,708, 7,718, 7,723, 7,726, 7,747, 7,751, 7,753, 7,754, 7,765, 7,769, 7,770, 7,778, 7,783, 7,790, 7,793, 7,795, 7,802, 7,808, 7,811, 8,286, 8,302, 8,387, 8,436, 8,503, 9,877, 9,928, 10,072, 10,445, 10,856, 11,158, 11,201, 11,204, 12,827, 12,851, 13,592, 13,683, 13,691, 13,695, 13,702, 14,049, 14,116, 14,174, 14,332, 14,395, 14,396, 14,422, 14,424, 14,816, 14,821, 14,937, 14,938, 14,939, 14,941, 14,942, 15,034, 15,047; SS. 32a, 107, 615; Rmm. 340, 363, 600, 611, 905; Rm. II, 28, 30; "Daily Telegraph" collection, 240; 81-2-4, 480; 82-8-16, 1; Bu. 89-4-26, 165; Babylonian Tablets, Nos. 34,912, 34,994, 37,966, 40,487, 40,801, 41,216, 41,512, 45,396, 45,397, 45,410, 46,111, 46,284, 46,287, 46,290, 46,302, 46,305, 46,311, 46,354, 46,382, 46,407, 46,483, 46,488, 46,496, 46,506, 93,030, 93,031, 93,032, 93,033, 93,034.

This new material has made it possible to reconstruct in a tolerably complete form the Syllabaries of the First and Second Classes ; the reconstructions are given on Plates 1-5, 14-18 and 24-25, and are followed by copies of the fragments upon which they are based. The material at present available will not admit of the reconstruction of the Syllabary of the Third Class. The Syllabaries here given are the most complete hitherto published.

The number of the second fragment from the left on Plate 28 (i.e., K. 8,436) has been accidentally omitted from the lithographic stone ; and No. 33,329, a dated Babylonian tablet and duplicate of Plates 16 and 17, Col. III, l. 63-Col. IV. l. 7, will be published in a subsequent part.

The copies have been made by Mr. R. Campbell Thompson, B.A., Assistant in the Department.
